

Between the Lines

The Inside Story

THE SCRIBBLER - PHIL DiDOMENICO'S WORDS TO LIVE BY.

Fourth Edition August 2014

Shield of Immortality...

Succeeding in today's technological business environment requires intense concentration and focus with computers, iPhones, iPads, Edgeolog, Transfinder, Zonar, GPS, cameras, AVL, XYZ and on & on. If you want to survive in this ever growing tech world direct your energy to learning.

Don't waste your time trying to protect yourself against office politics, no time for that, don't take things personally, the moment you start to worry about your survival you stop taking care of business, it consumes you. Please consider overlooking others shortcomings, try not to be critical. Know the difference between a mountain and a molehill. If you think you were offended don't try to settle the score be retaliating, leave out the quips & bobs and bantering in your conversations, they've discovered the worst "weapon of destruction" right here at home -- the "wisecrack"

Revenge is like taking poison hoping the other person dies. Build a protective shield around yourself by ignoring bad behavior from your co-workers or others. Respond to hostility or disrespect with patience and kindness. Keep doing it, every day, building upon each good deed and or response and soon you will be impervious to the things that turn your mood to bad. Mark Twain wrote "Few things are harder to put up with than the annoyance of a good example."

"Our Worst fault is our preoccupation with the faults of others."

Fourth Commandment: Thou Shalt Not Be Critical