Character...

I have heard it said that if you really want to test someone's character give him power.

"Love all, trust few, do wrong to none" ~ William Shakespeare

Character is easier to keep than to restore, people that work for us trust you as a manager, a keeper of our culture, keep your word, don't make promises that we can't keep and follow up on all commitments and treat all equally. This comes with some responsibility, it is very easy to deceive someone that trusts you so don't try to fake it; nobody will believe you unless you believe what you are saying yourself. Courage, fairness, leadership, patience, RESPECT, responsibility and, of course... trust-worthiness are some good character traits, we are born with them like built-in Apps on the iPhone, only you can delete them, are you of good character? One of the most courageous things you can do is identify yourself and recognize that it is you.

Honor is a gift a person gives themselves so don't allow anything to force you to give it back.

Follow this:

This above all: to thine ownself be true, And it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man. ~ William Shakespeare
